

Avoiding a Lawsuit as a Marriage Counselor

written by CPH Insurance | June 16, 2016

There are several things marriage therapists need to be aware of when providing services for couples who are struggling with their marriage such as: the emotional stress that goes along with couples problems, the stages of depression and how to channel negative energy to focus more on the positive.