

Determining Whether You Should File a Professional Liability Insurance Claim

written by CPH Insurance | June 16, 2016

Filing a claim as a mental health practitioner sometimes involves a little bit of forethought, similar to anticipating moves during a sports event. The runner at first might try to steal second, so the man on second base has to be ahead of the game, literally and figuratively, to tag him out should he make a run for it.