

Anatomy of a Malpractice Suit

written by CPH Insurance | August 24, 2016

The potential for malpractice among dietitians and other allied healthcare professionals has become a growing concern. Dietitians, in particular, are accepting more responsibility through increased expertise, exposure and responsibility, which tends to make these healthcare professionals more vulnerable.