

The Importance of Research in Nursing Practice

written by Nancy Brent | April 14, 2017

When I was reviewing nursing research on the Web, I came across an interesting study done in 2010 in Hong Kong by several researchers.¹ It studied the “effectiveness of a humor therapy program in relieving chronic pain, enhancing happiness and life satisfaction, and reducing loneliness among older persons with chronic pain.”